DR. S. RANGASWAMI IYENGAR

"DIABETES SPECIALIST."

RARE AND INVALUABLE SPECIFIC FOR THE CURE OF "DIABETES."

After a short visit to the Madras Presidency on professional work Dr. S. RANGASWAMI IYENGAR, the well-known Diabetes Specialist has RETURNED TO BOMBAY and will be glad to treat "DIABETES" suffering patients.

During the short stay he has made here before he has treated and has completely cured many persons of whom the following are a few:—

KANYALAL BADRIDAS, a Cotton Merchant, Bombay writes:—

"It gives me great pleasure in testifying to the real efficacy of Dr. S. R. Iyengar's medicinal drugs. I was suffering from "Diabetes" for the last 12 years—Commenced Dr. Iyengar's treatment—my urine was examined by the Bombay Municipal Analyst the Sp. Gravity was 1037 and sugar 5-62 per cent. After treatment, the examination of the same Municipal Analyst; and Dr. N. H. Clubwala M. D. B. Hy. (Bombay) at Dr. Masina Hospital Pathological Laboratory "Sugar was found nil" and Sp Gravity 1013.

Mr. BHAILAL V. KHOTHARI, B.A., LL.B. Vakil, High Court, Bombay, writes:—

"It gives me great and sincere pleasure in testifying to the real efficacy of Dr. S. R. Iyengar's medical drugs. I was suffering from Diabetes for over 4 years and had tried many well-known doctors of Bombay but without any effect. I then put myself under the treatment of the said Doctor Iyengar and he prescribed a course of 7 complete weeks for me. As each week progressed the disease that could not at all be controlled before, began to abate with the result that I was completely cured at the end of the course, in such a marvellous way that I can very well say that Dr. Iyengar is not a diabetes specialist in name but a specialist indeed in reality. My Sp. Gr. which was 1038 in the beginning of the course came down to 1015 at the end and grains of sugar per ounce of urine fell down from 24 to nil while sediments were not at all visible.

CONSULTATION—8 to 10 a.m., and 5 to 7 p.m.

There is practically no limit to the income-earning powers of the mind when is keyed up to the highest pitch of efficiency of which it is capable.

By training your mind to greater efficiency you can put yourself in the way of earning twice, three times, four times the amount you make at present.

In every profession, business, and occupation there is a demand for men and women with scientifically trained minds.

Over 500,000 men and women have already been trained to greater efficiency by the famous Pelman System which develops just those qualities of Concentration, Memory, Initiative, Ideation, Self-Confidence, and Administrative Power which are in the greatest demand to-day.

THE PELMANOMETER
WHAT DOES YOUR BRAIN EARN for you?
Rs. 10000 P.M.
Rs. 1000 P.M.
Rs. 100 P.M.

Over 100,000 British and Dominion Officers and Men have studied the Course, including 150 Admirals and Generals.

By training your mind on the Pelman System you can get better work (and better paid work) with infinitely less effort.

A Course of Pelman Training is the finest of all mental exercises. It develops your mind as physical training develops your muscles. It is most fascinating to follow and takes up very little time. It is taught by post and can be followed anywhere.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometer :—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 32 deg. F, and to the level of the tide at 6-45 a.m. Standard Time on the 23rd Nov. 1920 was 30·048 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decreased by 0·13 inch. for every 5 deg. according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid the temperature correction is needed but for comparison at 80 deg. a 1 aneroid readings should be increased by 138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide in the stream at 6-45 a.m., Standard Time the ship's barometer readings should be increased by 0·10 inch. for every 16 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

SANTACRUZ MARKET.

FIASCO OF NON-VEGETARIANS' MEETING.

A correspondent writes :—A few non-vegetarian residents of Santa-Cruz, intended to hold a Public (?) meeting on Sunday at 9 A.M., to counteract what they called the "unreasonable movement" of the Gujarati residents, in connection with the Mutton-shop location. At the appointed time, throngs of vegetarians poured in to strongly oppose such tactics. Mr. Behramgor Anklesaria was elected President by an overwhelming majority, who said, though he was non-vegetarian, yet he willingly espoused the cause of Truth. The handful of non-vegetarians opposed the election, claiming that the meeting was intended purely for non-vegetarians. But, looking to the strength of the audience took their defeat with a good grace and expressed their desire to dissolve the meeting. After a heated discussion, Mr. Mawji Govindji acted as a peace-maker, asked the audience to calm down and appealed to the non-vegetarians to respect the religious sentiments of the Gujratis. On an assurance being given by the conveners of the meeting not to hold another meeting without preinforming the vegetarian residents, the meeting was dissolved.

Col. and Madame Fillis intend revisiting Bombay during the visit of H.R.H. Col. and Madame Fillis wish to thank the Bombay public for their kind support and patronage during their visit here. It may be mentioned that 1200 of St. Xavier's College students were invited to see the performance as the kind permission of the Fathers the Circus obtained the ground at Queen's Road, and the management tender thanks to them as well as the Public Works Department.

VICTORIA DOCK TRAGEDY.

JURY'S VERDICT.

The Coroner concluded the inquest into the death of Mahadeo Jaluji and three other labourers who were crushed under a load of iron pipes falling on them by the breaking of a rope sling at the Victoria Dock on the 15th under circumstances already reported.

Mr. A. J. Muir, Assistant Superintendent, Bombay Port Trust said he did not think that rope slings should have been used for the purpose.

The following verdict was then recorded by the jury.

The deaths of Mahadeo and three others were caused by a load of iron pipes, in two frames attached to each other by bolts, which was being landed by means of a crane from the s. s. Scindia at the Victoria Dock having fallen on them in consequence of the double rope sling having broken when being lowered. The jury stated that the load was clearly of greater weight than was allowed by the Dock Bye-laws for the crane which was working it, and that rope used for the sling was apparently too weak for the load, it having broken in two parts. The supervision in this case was defective and that for this the stevedores were responsible; no blame could be attributed to the ship's officers. The jury considered that such accidents were frequent and that the control should be carefully exercised.

CASE OF ARRESTED STRIKERS.

"CONDUCT QUITE RESPECTFUL AND NOT DEFIANT."

SAYS MR. OLIVIERA.

Mr. A. H. S. Aston again heard the case yesterday against the arrested strikers at the Esplanade Police Court. There were 37 accused in all.

Prosecuting Inspector Finan conducted the prosecution; Mr. K. F. Nariman, Mr. F. S. Talyarkhan, Mr. Haji, Mr. Dhunjishaw and Mr. Deshpande, with Mr. F. J. Ginwalla defended the accused.

The charge was that of being members of an unlawful assembly, and not dispersing when ordered to do so.

PROSECUTION.

Mr. Frank Oliveira cross-examined by Mr. Talyarkhan said that the postal and other strikers had been assembling on the Maidan since some two months before. The 15th instant was the only occasion he was asked to go there, and it was in connection with the trouble about tram cars; that was what he believed. He did not know exactly what men they were. The crowd he spoke to was of about 200 men only. It was his own estimate and if anybody said they were more, he would still stick to his estimate. The men moved on towards Dhobi Talao when the members of the Bar spoke to them and they were still moving when somebody said "baitho, baitho." Then the crowd sat down. He was about a 100 feet behind the crowd and when it stopped the witness walked up to it. The crowd had not grown larger at that time, and when the men sat down they did not occupy a larger area than about 50 to 60 by 20 to 30 feet. When the witness found that the crowd was not obeying his orders he ordered Mr. Boyd to arrest the men; this took about two minutes. He had ordered the crowd loudly to disperse and any man with normal sense of hearing could have heard him. He had addressed them as loudly as, and even louder than, he was giving evidence. There was no noise, and the crowd was very peaceful. He did not think there was any possibility of misunderstanding or the chance of the majority not having heard him. He repeated his orders thrice and that was enough he thought. He did not think it was advisable to send the police among the crowd and tell them to disperse.

"QUIET AND PEACEFUL."

To Mr. Nariman: There was a distance of about 50 yards between the crowd and the tram cars. He did not see any acts of violence, and he did not know who had participated in the violence. He had only one case before him as Magistrate of a telegraph man assaulting another; but none of postal men having assaulted the tramway men or destroying the tramway property. He was not aware of any such cases. He was not aware that the men had shown any disrespect towards him; the conduct of the crowd was respectful, and not defiant. The boy who was defiant was found to be a schoolboy and not a striker. The crowd was very quiet and peaceful. Even when the crowd got up to move away it was not of more than two hundred men. Had it not been for the Pardeshi shouting "baitho, baitho" the crowd would have moved on. At least half the crowd must have heard him, if they were hearing him. The crowd dispersed when Mr. Nariman interpreted witness' orders to the men.

It was reported to witness that the common object of the crowd was to attack the tram cars. He made his orders under Section 127, Criminal Procedure Code.

He made the order, said the witness again, under the corresponding Section 42 of the Police Act. His real order was under Section 127 of the C. P. Code, coupled with 42 of the Police Act. Correcting, witness said he made the order more under Section 42 of the Police Act.

The Magistrate said it was entirely for the Court to decide under which section the order was made, and the question was irrelevant.

The case was then adjourned to Thursday (25th) at 1-30 p.m.

BOMBAY STRIKES.

SUFFERINGS CONTINUE.

All hopes of our regular postmen and telegraph peons returning to work are now gone and so is the fate of any anticipation of a satisfactory arrangement regular delivery being made within any reasonable time. The public is awfully sick of the mismanagement of Postal authorities who have not been able even after the lapse of two months and at the cost of untold sums of money, to introduce a house-to-house delivery anywhere outside the Fort. In many parts of the city heaps of letters are still to be found lying undelivered or in some cases unsorted, at delivery centres and Branch post offices. Let the public judge the action of the Postal authorities in not reconciling their veteran employees under the present circumstances.

STREET LIGHTING.

The streets of Bombay are very dimly lighted, for it seems the new mercenaries of the Company cannot produce a better quality of gas.

POSTAL NOTICE.

The hours of Booking and Sale of stamps were temporarily curtailed during the period of the strike at the Mahim Post Office. Full working hours have now been resumed both as regards booking and delivery of letters at the Mahim Post Office as before the strike. The street letter boxes are cleared twice a day.

With immediate effect uninsured parcels will be accepted between 11-30 a.m. and 3-30 p.m at the Masjid and Prince's Dock Post Offices.

ALLEGED TRESPASS.

CHARGE AGAINST PAST WILSONIAN.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

The further hearing of the case in which Mr. R. S. Nimbkar, who had been arrested at the instance of Mr. John Mackenzie, Acting Principal of the Wilson College, was charged by Superintendent Stenson, with criminal trespass, i.e., with entering the Wilson College on the 17th instant between the hours 10-45 a.m. and 1 p.m. with the intent to cause annoyance to the Principal and intimidate the Principal, was resumed yesterday by Mr. G. R. Khairaz, at the Girgaum Police Court. Yesterday also several hundreds of students, most of whom were Wilsonians, flocked to the Court which had been thickly packed long before the case was called and many of them had to wait in the Court compound for want of room in the Court hall.

Mr. Mirza A. M. Khan, Solicitor, appeared for the complainant; while the accused was undefended.

The accused did not wish to add anything more to his statement, whereupon the Court went on with the defence witnesses.

DEFENCE WITNESSES.

Mr. T. T. Merchant, a senior B.Sc. student, said he knew the accused. On the 17th he was one of those students who had gathered round the accused. He had never heard the accused speaking of Non-Cooperation. He did not know if the accused had any other purpose in view in going to the College except that of visiting his friends. Before the police came to arrest him the accused had asked the students not to gather round him, but to go to their classes. He did not know of any incident when the accused had intimidated any student, nor did he know of any such action on the part of the accused which annoyed the Principal.

Cross-examined by Mr. M. A. M. Khan, the witness deposed that students were shouting "Shame, shame" to the Principal, when Mr. Nimbkar was arrested by the police. The Principal then walked away to his rooms. He did not see the Principal's face and so he could not suggest whether he was annoyed or pleased at the shouts of "Shame, shame."

Mr. S. A. Dange, a school teacher, said he was a student in the Wilson College. He was served with a notice to leave the College on the 9th of November. No reasons were given by the Principal. There were ten other students who were treated in the same fashion. The Principal believed every movement of the students to be dangerous to the interest of the College. He did not like even the reading of papers on the Reforms Scheme. The witness thought the anti-Bibl movement was a constitutional movement. The accused was not in any way connected with the anti-Bible movement except that he organised a meeting of the past Wilsonians to express sympathy towards the movement. He was aware of many instances when Mr. Mackenzie and Prof. Maclean threatened to expell those students who kept any connection with the accused and the witness himself.

Cross-examined by Mr. M. A. M. Khan, the witness said the authorities did not refuse to grant him a leaving certificate, but he did not ask for it. He was against compulsory attendance in Bible class.

D. K. Juvekar, a senior B.A. student, said he was in the class when the accused entered Mr. Mackenzie's class on the 16th instant. He heard the accused say to Mr. Mackenzie: "May I come in, Sir?" He did not hear any reply from Mr. Mackenzie. While going, the accused had said that he had waited for a long time for the police, but as they did not come he would come the next day. He saw the accused on the 17th when he persuaded him to leave the College premises as he thought he (accused) might come into some difficulty. The accused on the other hand requested the students to go to their own classes and to let him alone.

Cross-examined by Mr. Stenson, the witness said when the accused said to the Principal that he would come the next day, he (accused) was near the entrance. He talked in his natural tone.

Two more defence witnesses were examined and they deposed to the same effect as the former witnesses.

DEFENCE ADDRESS.

The accused, then addressing the Court, said the case had an origin for a long time. Since when he was taking part in the College Debating Society and was taking interest in the welfare of his Motherland, the College authorities, who were foreigners, were disliking him. Dr. Mackichan, Rev. Mackenzie, Prof. Maclean and others supposed him to be a mischief-monger. As for the movement against the compulsory attendance in Bible class, the accused said though the movement originated in the College itself and he showed his mere sympathy with the movement, Principal Mackenzie ascribed to him all the blame for it. Then the Principal was also afraid the Non-Cooperation movement finding way into his College. The case was the result of all those reasons. He never went to the College with any criminal intent. All that he went to the College for, was to assert his right with a bona fide conviction, when he was arrested.

Continuing, the accused stated that the Wilson College was one of those institutions which received grant from the Government and there was a clause in the Grants-in-Aid Rules that any member of the public was entitled to enter the College premises for bona fide purposes

Magistrate:—What was your purpose in going to the College on the 17th?

Accused:—I went there to test my right

At the end the accused again said that he had gone to the College to ascertain his right and with no criminal purpose. Non-violence was his principle and to non-violence he was bound.

If he accepted the Principal's suggestion that he would not be allowed to enter the College premises without his permission, it would be very hard for him. He had his nearest relatives in the College hostel and he might require to see them at any hour of the day or night.

He again said he went to the College with the bona fide intent of asserting his right.

Superintendent Stenson then contended that the only thing they were concerned with was whether the accused committed the trespass or not.

The Court then wanted to know if the accused gave actual annoyance to the Principal on the 17th, on which date he was arrested.

Superintendent Stenson said that the police had received a written complaint from the Principal that the presence of the accused in the College premises was the source of annoyance and the police knew that the accused came to the College to create disturbance. He admitted that the accused had a right to enter the College premises, but as soon as he committed an annoyance it amounted to trespass. The Magistrate wanted to know if any annoyance was created on the 17th instant, whereupon Mr. Stenson referred to the incident of the 16th idem. The Magistrate, however, held that the accused was not charged for the offence of the 16th instant.

At this stage the Magistrate enquired of the police officer whether in case he convicted the accused, the prosecution then would suggest any punishment. Mr. Stenson, thereupon, said that neither Mr. Mackenzie wanted the "lad" to be punished nor did the police desire to be vindictive towards him.

The decision of the case was deferred to 3-30 p.m., 1st proximo.

It is understood that the Paris Polo Club has very sportingly offered to pay certain expenses of any polo players who are handicapped four or above, who would like to play polo in Paris from May to the 15th July next year. Particulars can be obtained from the Hon. Secretary, Army Polo Committee, Meerut.

insist on Your Government to look into the whole question of high prices fully and early.

May I submit, Your Excellency, that this sphinx-like attitude of Your Government in this matter is simply bewildering to the people; and is mainly responsible for the hardships of the people, resulting from economic distress, and the consequent strikes, that we witness in the city. May I also submit, that if prices are not on the increase, why have the mill-owners given 15% more to their men? Is it out of mercy, equity or necessity? Then again, the manual workers are even faintly heard. But the clerical community, the lower middle class, is simply crushed by the terribly high cost of living.

Will not Your Excellency be pleased to appoint an Independent Committee to inquire into the economic conditions of the City and the Presidency? There won't be any delay in getting the right men. There cannot be the question of expense, which cannot be considerable.

There is the ready report of the Corporation Committee to go upon. For immediate relief, the best means are:—

(1) Requisition of stocks, that are withheld;
(2) Prosecution of greedy grain dealers that sell above the control rates.
(3) Investigation of shops by voluntary workers.
(4) And Licences for all Dealers in Foodstuffs.

There are men to help the Government; there are the means at the disposal of the Government; but, there must be the will of the Government without which, the situation might grow worse, entailing further hardships on the people. Famine prices, crushing prices, is the cry that we hear from all sides. Surely it will melt the heart of Your Excellency and lead you to take strong and swift measures to remove the root cause of the sufferings of the masses, who are committed to your kind care by our humane sovereign, H. M. King George.

I remain,
Your Excellency's Deferentially,
BARJORJI FRAMJI BHARUCHA.
Bombay 19th Nov.

AN OPEN LETTER.

To
His Excellency,
SIR GEORGE AMBROSE LLOYD, G.C.I.E., D.S.O.,
Governor of Bombay,
BOMBAY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

The economic situation is getting worse in the Presidency; and the hardships of the people are growing daily. As the Governor of the Province, will your Excellency be pleased to institute any early enquiry into the matter?

It may interest Your Excellency to know, that right at the out-break of the war in August 1914, there was a panic in the market; and prices of foodstuffs and of all household requisites sprang up suddenly and enormously. Your predecessor, Lord Willingdon, lost no time, but went round the market personally, interviewed the leading merchants, advised them of the necessity of keeping down the rates in the interests of the masses; and the result was decidedly satisfactory.

We know that, Your Excellency is fully aware of the efficacy of such interviews, as was recently experienced in connection with the Bombay Loan, when Your personal appeal to the merchants, mill-owners, and Bankers of Bombay was so quietly and quickly responded by them.

Coming to the main subject, viz the economic distress, may I remind Your Excellency of the letter I addressed you on the 29th May, 1919? Therein I placed before you facts and figures concerning the rice control in Bombay:—

(a) How far the control system was ineffecient and ineffective!
(b) How the grain dealers were extorting prices 20 to 50% higher than Control rates!
(c) How the dealers went off set free!
(d) How the feeling of the people was growing against Government, as they found little relief from the Control system!
(e) And how this economic distress was the root cause of the mill strikes in the early part of 1919!

I also submitted to Your Excellency a tentative scheme for the efficient and effective system of rice control, which if adopted, would have given great relief to the poor people. Mr. Cowie, the Private Secretary, wrote to say, that Your Excellency was causing a close inquiry to be made into the abuses to which I had drawn Your Excellency's attention. This was in June 1919; but it is not our good fortune to know the result so far.

Whilst two Hindu gentlemen, Messrs. Dharamsey Gopalji and Cooverji Champsey, helped me in my investigations of grain shops between Colaba and Parel in May and June 1919, Mr. Fritchley volunteered to assist me, and took me to Mr. Harker, the then Deputy Police Commissioner. That officer gladly consented to give all possible help in detecting large stocks of rice, that were unduly withheld for the purpose of profiteering, provided we obtained the permission of the Controller. Mr. Fritchley saw the Controller personally, but without success. That was in June or July, 1919.

About the same time, the Hon. Mr. Paranjpe asked the following question at the Council Meeting at Poona:—

"Have Government, taken any steps to inquire into these rumours (relating to alleged maladministration and corruption in the Department of Control) and have they considered the question of publishing a press communique on the matter with a view to allay widespread public discontent and suspicion?"

To this your Government gave the following answer:—

"Government have made certain enquites, but in view of the fact, that legal proceedings are about to be instituted, no further statement is possible at this stage."

Now, the legal proceedings were not taken by the Government or under their orders; and hence the reply was far from satisfactory at the time. But even now, i.e. after sixteen months, will Your Excellency's Government be pleased to make a full statement on the subject?

Later on, another member of Your Excellency's Council, Mr. Belvi or Mr. Garud, moved your Government to appoint a representative Committee to institute an exhaustive enquiry into the economic conditions of the Presidency; but this was also shewed, some how or other.

Things drifted from bad to worse. In spite of the splendid rains of 1919, prices of foodstuffs began to rise from November of that year; so much so, that they exceeded the rates of 1918, which was a famine year. The result was inevitable; the first week of January 1920 witnessed the mill strikes in Bombay, which might have caused more serious troubles and losses, had it not been for Your Excellency's timely, thoughtful and tactful action at the time.

But the increase in wages is not a real solution of the problem of high prices; and Dr. Viegas, that veteran and indefatigable corporator, moved the municipal Corporation and got a Committee appointed to enquire into the causes of the high prices of foodstuffs in Bombay, and the means and methods of checking and reducing the same. Your favourite friend, Mr. Cowasjee Jehangir, did splendid work on that Committee, that sat continuously for many days, and sent up its report to Your Government in March or April last. To this Your Government has sent such an evasive reply after six months, that it has taxed the patience even of such a staunch supporter of Your Government, Mr. P. J. Marzaban, who pressed the Corporation to

SYDNEY, Nov. 22.
Recd. 1 p.m., Nov. 23.

The M. C. C. suffered their first defeat of the tour to-day, when the New South Wales gained a brilliant victory by six wickets, scoring 335 runs in the fourth innings of the match for the loss of only four wickets. There were about 17,000 spectators present when the second innings of the M. C. C. was continued in a warm weather on the wicket that was still good. The remaining batsmen were dismissed without much difficulty and the home side were set to get 324 runs to win. This they accomplished with unexpected ease, thanks to the brilliant first wicket partnership between Macartney and Collins which made the victory practically certain. Both batsmen played confident and attractive cricket and 244 of the runs required had been obtained before the Captain of the Imperial Forces team was caught in the slips. Macartney was joined by Andrews and continued to bat freely and when he left at 292, the issue had been placed beyond doubt.

For the M. C. C. Woolley took one for 66, wickets for 67., Kelleway two for 33 and Mailey three for 100.

For the M. C. C. Woolley tok one for 66 Fender one for 74 and Hearne two for 44.

WELTER-WEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

DETAILS OF LEWIS-BASHAM CONTEST

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, Nov. 20.
Recd. 7 p.m., Nov. 23.

The fight, between Kid Lewis and Basham at the Albert Hall for the Welter-weight Championship was very fast and keen. Lewis at the outset delivered heavy-body blows and right to the jaw, and had the better of the first couple of rounds. After that Basham boxed beautifully scoring with left's to face and rights to the jaw, and cleverly avoiding Lewis' hefty swings. Lewis was most anxious to get to close quarters but Basham kept him out well, and was halfway on points. In the fourteenth round, Lewis split Basham's left ear which bled profusely. In the nineteenth, right to jaw, sent Basham down for a count of eight, and when he rose right and left finished the fight.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.
Wednesday, November 24, 1920.

TO THE STUDENTS OF ALL INDIA.

From what we said in this column yesterday you will have seen that we are in favour of a system of Indian National Education, differing in many ways from the education to be obtained in Government schools, and that we think that boys, after a certain age, must do the best part of their education for themselves. What is that age? It varies, naturally, in the individual; but we should say that sixteen would be a safe estimate. We do not know if any limit of youth is to be imposed by the Committee in the case of delegates to the Nagpur Students' Conference. But we consider such a limit necessary, and suggest that no-one under sixteen years of age should be accepted as a delegate, or be regarded as affected by the questions which the Conference will discuss. We hope that, if not at this Conference, at the next Conference of the kind, every Taluka town in India will be so far represented as to be kept in touch with the proceedings of the Students through delegate, though the said delegate might represent not one town only, but a group of towns. The students have to consider first their country's interest and then their own. The two can hardly be considered incompatible. They are at present pulled this way and that by outside influences. They have to consider their position and evolve a policy.

The matter is not half so simple as it might appear from the above remarks; nor do we for a moment think it simple. If it were a choice between a system of Indian National Education on the one hand and Government Education on the other, that would be simple enough; and Indian students would not need to call a Conference. But it is not. The choice at present is between an existent system of education and a non existent system or a system which is only just beginning to exist. For students who decide for the latter, it is a question not of choice of education but of sacrifice. In some cases —such as that of students in purely technical schools like schools of medicine—to make that sacrifice would be disastrous to the future of the country. They are not called upon to make it. But students in the ordinary colleges are being urged to give up their career. Now what are they to do? There will be two opinions at the Conference as there are two opinions throughout India at the present time, and we hope that each will be allowed a proper hearing. It would indeed be a disaster, if the students were to be divided into two bitterly opponent factions like their elders, when the aim is one. There is a chance for you now to work for reconciliation of the two opponent parties in your country for the country's good. You will find that, while nearly all of you accept the principle of Non-cooperation, upon the question of national education there will be co-operators and Non-cooperators.

Well, when that divergence of opinion has been manifested, and the position of each party clearly stated, do not waste your precious time in heated wrangling; for there is nothing to get hot about, and your wrangling will but cause amusement to your hostile critics. Let the Conference at once divide into two sections—Cooperators and Non-cooperators,—holding separate deliberations to decide what each in its allotted sphere is going to do to promote the cause of national education which is a necessary preliminary to Indian self-government unless it is to prove an utter failure. The decisions thus arrived at could be then referred to a committee composed of members of both parties, and the work co-ordinated. Where there is no divergency of aim, but only a difference of opinion as to ways and means, this should be possible. And it would be of manifest advantage to the students and to India as a whole. One thing we think you ought to do, and that is to proclaim in most uncompromising terms your disapproval of students merely leaving college as a political demonstration and remaining idle afterwards. Non-cooperation in your eyes cannot mean idleness. It means hard work for the Indian nation, involving education in another way. The Non-cooperating students should decide among themselves what work they will do—whether the primary instruction of the illiterate or secondary instruction of those who have cut short their education at an earlier stage. And they must not disperse their energies in scattered efforts all over this great continent of India. They must concentrate upon a certain province to begin with, and when that is organised must pass on to another. If that is done their cooperating comrades will be proud of them, as they can never be if they are idle, and merely show hostility towards cooperation. And the cooperating students also can do much to advance the cause of national education when once organised. Their influence is bound in a short while to modify the moral tone and atmosphere of Government Schools. You, students have to-day a glorious chance of showing to all India a new ideal and a way. But, if you do not wish to miss that chance, do not be tyrants one towards another. For the habit of tyranny is one which grows upon a man, and at your age it would be disastrous to indulge it.

RECRUITING FOR MR. GANDHI.

Shivdeo Singh Grewal, of the Gwalior army, a Sikh student in the Veterinary College in Bombay, became a Non-cooperator yesterday under the following circumstances. He was a soldier and a loyal servant of the Government but he had some natural feeling of affection for the men who work for India, and he had a photo of Mahatma Gandhi in his bedroom at the Veterinary College. Also, being eager to hear the voice of the great national leader, he attended the meeting of the Bombay students at Shantaram's Chawl on Sunday week, and heard Mahatma Gandhi's speech on that occasion. On his return to the College the other students questioned him about the speech, and he told them with relief that it did not concern him or them, since the schools and colleges referred to were not technical institutions like the Veterinary College. They therefore need not think of giving up their studies.

But someone misrepresented his opinions to the principal of the College, and three days later he was called before that functionary, who accused him of being a follower of Mahatma Gandhi. He said that he was not a follower of Mahatma Gandhi. How could he be since he was a soldier serving in the army? But he had a picture of Mahatma Gandhi in his bedroom? That was true, he owned, and he had also pictures of other Indian leaders for whom he felt some love and admiration. The principal insisted that he was a follower of Mr. Gandhi, and was playing the part of an agitator in the College. This he denied, and pointed out that it was hardly possible that he could preach Non-cooperation in a College which Mr. Gandhi himself declared to be outside the present field of non-cooperation. One of his friends was asked to leave the Veterinary College and another was expelled from the hostel merely for associating, it would seem, with one who kept a photograph of Mr. Gandhi in his bedroom and had attended the Students' meeting at Shantaram's Chawl. Mr. Shivdeo Singh Grewal was asked to leave the College, but protested that, as a soldier, he could not be judged by a civilian. He pointed out how serious it was for him, a married man with children, to have his career thus cut short after two years of study. He also mentioned that all his wife's male relations had been killed as soldiers in the service of the Government. She therefore had no home to which to go. The principal of the Veterinary College then communicated with the Inspector-General of the Gwalior army. Our informant did not know the terms of the communication but the reply by telegram was "Turn himi out of College. He is no longer a servant of the Gwalior army." The principal of the Veterinary College was, however, more merciful than the Inspector-General of the Gwalior army. He allowed Mr. Grewal to resign, and even expressed some regret at the necessity of parting with him. Mr. Grewal asked if there was any college in all India where he could complete his studies, as it was extremely hard for him to lose the fruit of two years of work, by just a fortnight, the examination being on the 6th of December. The principal replied he greatly feared that there was not, and said the best thing Mr. Grewal could do was to go and study in the United States of America where there were excellent Veterinary Schools, full of the latest inventions which could not fail to be of great advantage to him in his studies.

Mr. Grewal thanked him kindly and withdrew. Not long afterwards he told his story to us calmly in the office of "The Chronicle", dwelling with some emotion on his faithful service and the faithful service of his family and of his wife's relations, saying how many of them had given their lives in the cause of the Imperial Government. Only at the end, when he had told us the whole story there came an outbreak of the storm of grief and anger which had all the while been there, repressed behind his unemotional demeanour. It was with passion that he sprang up and declared: "I was not a follower of Mahatma Gandhi, I was a soldier and a loyal servant of the Government. But now I am a follower of Mahatma Gandhi. This is what I shall do. I am going to beg in every town and village to get funds for the Non-cooperation moveinent. I have some land, the rent of which will keep my wife and children from starvation while I do this work, which is my work henceforward." And we are sure that he meant what he said. The Non-cooperation movement has thus gained a stout recruit, and the Government has lost a loyal servant through sheer misguided folly, as it seems to us.

Notes of the Day.

Mr. Gandhi and "The Times of India."

There is no love lost between Mr. Gandhi and the "Times of India" and in the circumstances we are not surprised to notice that the latter loses no opportunity of criticising Mr. Gandhi's educational programme. This time the burden of the criticism is that Mr. Gandhi "has been telling the students of Bombay what he has been busily telling other Indian students (so at least it has the virtue of consistency) that the best way to serve their country is to leave their Schools and Colleges and take a holiday" and that he has been assuring them that in due course they shall "return to schools free from the taint of Government money, which shall have been miraculously built by Mr. Gandhi". Our morning contemporary with extreme complacency goes on to explain the use of the word "miraculous" and solemnly assures whomsoever it may conern that "springing up is the one thing that a school does not do". Perhaps our contemporary is not aware of the springing up of several national schools and colleges all over India—for instance at Aligarh, Calcutta, Surat, Ahmedabad and several other places. The "labour, organisation, experience and above all, money to found a school" which it postulates with so much confidence as the necessary preliminary to nationalistic educational activities must all have been there or else these new nationalist institutions could never have sprung up. Like the slave of the lamp, ever on the alert to obey the behests of his master, in the Arabian fairy tale, scores of educated patriots have come to man these national institutions at the call of the motherland, and money also up to now has not been lacking. Of course any stick is good to beat Mr. Gandhi with. In pursuance of the tactics of the solicitor who wired to the barrister retained for a brief "No case. Abuse the plaintiff" the Bori-Bunder oracle possibly being conscious of the unconvincing nature of its arguments goes to distant Mysore and after diligent search unearths a paragraph about a scheme of Tilak memorial scholarships which did not materialise and begs its readers "to ponder over this little item of news" which the editorial scissors have so diligently clipped out for the delectation of the readers of "The Times of India". We can assure our contemporary that we have pondered over that little item of news and that it has failed to impress us. "One swallow does not make a summer." Neither does this isolated instance prove the failure of all nationalist efforts.

Kars and Erivan.

The partial collapse of the Armenian Republic, and above all the reported fall of Erivan, have caused a painful flutter in the dovecotes of Armenian sympathy in England as if a country and a people, in the ordinary sense, were being conquered and deprived of liberty. Most of the English sympathisers with the poor Armenians know nothing of the country which they call Armenia except what the Armenian revolutionary agents choose to tell them. They are quite unconscious of the fact that the Armenians nowhere live as a compact majority except in very small district—as for instance that of Etchmiadzin—mere groups of villages islanded amid another race which like themselves is native to the soil. The largest centres of Armenian population were on what was Russian territory just before the war, and so when the Turks and the Armenians came to understanding in the Caucasus in 1918, an independent Armenian State was with the consent of the Turkish Government set up within that territory; but it must not be forgotten that not long ago it was all Turkish territory and that the population even of the area assigned to the new Armenian Republic was predominantly Turkish—i.e., Muslim. If the new Armenian State had kept the terms of the agreement with the Turks which brought it first into existence all would have been well; but after the Armistice had been concluded, thinking Turkey crushed, the Armenians claimed much larger territory and became aggressive, invading lands which were in no sense Armenian and massacring the Mohammedan inhabitants. Mr. Scotland Liddell, the Caucasus correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" has more than once denounced the truculent policy of the Armenian Republic and described the cruelties committed by its so-called armies. Both Kars ond Erivan have been the scene of such atrocities. The proportion of Armenians is greater in Erivan than in Kars, but in both the Muslim population was predominant before the war, and both have always been considered Turkish towns, even by the Russians who had possession of that territory from 1879 to 1918. Erivan was included in "Armenia" under the terms of the Turco-Armenian treaty of 1918. Kars was not; and it will be noticed that it was not until after the Armenians had refused to give up Kars that the Turkish patriots advanced on Erivan. Now we are told that the Turks are demanding the cession of Kars not from Armenia but from Georgia. The reason is quite simple. Both the Armenian and Georgian republics lay claim to Kars, and the Turks, who have a stronger claim than either of them, insist on both relinquishing their pretensions: that is all. There is no intention, we believe, upon the part of the Turkish patriots, to destroy the independence either of Armenia or Georgia; the intention is merely to oblige them to give up a bone of contention which belongs of right to neither of them. Anyhow the possession of Kars, the strongest point, by Turkey would unquestionably make for peace in all that country. Both the Georgian and Armenian States in the few months since they gained their independence have made more wars and caused more misery than was ever known in that region in the centuries of Turkish rule, or in the years of Czarist Russian domination which succeeded it.

Armenian Propaganda.

The kind of propaganda by which the Armenian revolutionary societies mislead the simple public both in Europe and America may be judged from the following instance, one of many which have come under our notice and to which we called the attention of the Armenian bureau in London, without, however, getting any answer, much less redress, from that obscure assembly. In one of the pamphlets issued by that Bureau, the following statement is prominently made: "According to the Koran, strictly interpreted every Christian is outside the law and may be killed at sight." We need not inform our Indian readers that that statement is a barefaced lie. Yet it has been circulated and is still, for aught we know, being circulated to English readers who know nothing of the teaching of Islam; the object, of course, being to show that the Turks regarded killing of Armenians as a part of their religion. After that it is only natural to find that the whole relations between Muslims and Armenians both in Anatolia and the Caucasus are completely misrepresented by the same Armenian propagandists. The pity is that the people in England and America are so ignorant of Eastern matters as to be deceived by them. That is the case with the majority, but there surely must be a minority who are not deceived and yet give full support to the Armenian propaganda.

A Suppressed Report.

Important documents upon the other side have been suppressed, which could only have been done by persons in high—nay, we had almost said, supreme—authority. Few people now remember that, during the war, the Central Red Cross organisation sent out a mission of inquiry both to Turkey and the Russian Caucasus to inspect the prison camps and to investigate the charges of atrocities on either hand. The mission had of course to be entrusted to a Neutral Power, and it was entrusted to the Danish Red Cross Organisation. The Turkish Government welcomed the proposal, and a mission composed of Danish medical men went out to Turkey and were allowed to visit every camp of which they had received complaints. The said mission after weeks of travel and investigation returned to Europe and presented its report to the Central Red Cross Organisation at Geneva. That report was never published: Why? Because it was favourable to the Turks and contained in an appendix serious charges against the Armenians; it also contained the statement that the Danish Red Cross mission sent out to the Russian front (which, so far as we know never sent in a report at all) had not been allowed to visit the districts and the camps of which the Turks complained upon the evidence that reached them. After months of ineffectual bombarding of the Red Cross people of Geneva with requests for a mere statement of the contents of the said report, we at last, through the kindness of the Danish Minister in London, were able to obtain an authenticated copy. The contents are as we have just described them. That report was presented to the Central Red Cross Committee in 1917—and suppressed. Thus the whole Western world was led to suppose, during the war, that the reports of pro-Armenians with regard to Turkish barbarism were indisputable; and that there was no evidence whatsoever on the Turkish side; and that is not the only case of such suppression as against the Muslims. Our readers will remember the still more flagrant instance of suppression in the case of a Report by an Allied Commission on the atrocities committed by Greek troops in Smyrna.

Not Lambs.

We have no hostility whatever to the Armenians as a race, but we have a strong hostility to lying propaganda, and a no less strong antipathy for the Armenian so-called "revolutionaries"—who yesterday were stout adherents of the Russian Czar—who, without the slightest regard for the welfare of their own compatriots, have, for a perfectly insane ambition, deluged Western Asia in innocent blood. It is a mistake to suppose, as many people do, that the Armenians in Turkey are all usurers, and to give that as the reason why they have been made to suffer. The great majority of the Armenian race in Turkey and the Caucasus are peasants with the virtues and defects of peasants. It is a mistake too to think that they are cowards; they are not; that false notion of them is derived entirely from the efforts of their propagandists—the above named "revolutionaries"—who always depict them as of meek and lamb like innocence. They are a people of Eastern Anatolia, not very different in their characteristics from other peoples in those latitudes, only perhaps to-day a little more intolerant and more aggressive; but that is due to the untiring efforts of the propagandists, who, while portraying them as lamb-like innocents in Europe and America, in Anatolia urge them to attack their neighbours. They fought magnificently in the Turkish army in the Balkan War, and they will fight magnificently upon their own account. But like their Kurdish neighbours they are cruel fighters and absolutely ruthless when they get the upper hand. We wish that they should have a country they can call their own, but there is no such country at the present time; and we believe that it can only be created by peaceable arrangement with the neighbouring races, not by war. Nobody objects to their having an independent State proportioned to their numbers. What has angered all the East against them was their "Greater Armenia" claim—the claim to dominate enormous territories in which Armenians formed a trifling fraction of the population.

The feeling of horror first aroused in England by the reports of the fiendish murders in Dublin yesterday morning is giving place to a torrent of fierce indignation and the papers demand drastic action on the part of the authorities. Even the "Daily News" which has seized on every opportunity to expose the military and police reprisals, says that these friends of Ireland bitterly regret the murderous assaults by the "maddened" Sinn Fein extremists.

CASUALTIES ON A FOOTBALL FIELD.

Ten persons were killed and sixty-five wounded, eleven seriously, during the raid at the Croke Park football match. The assassins entered the town in the guise of spectators going to watch the match.

The body of the Roman Catholic priest, Michael Griffin, who was kidnapped on November 14th. has been found buried in a boggy land near the roadside at Cloughskella four miles from Galway with bullet wounds in the temple. The deceased, though an extreme Sinn Feiner, preached strongly against the Sinn Fein methods. The Irish members of the House of Common alleged that he had been kidnapped by soldiers which Sir Hamar Greenwood denied. This is the first case in Ireland of a priest having been murdered.

The curfew order in Dublin will henceforth come into force at ten instead of midnight. The officers killed include Major Dowling, Grenadier Guards and Captain D. L. MacLean, Riffe Brigade.

It now appears according to an official statement that fourteen officers were killed and six wounded in Dublin to-day. The dead include one Major, five Captains, one a former Captain and a Lieutenant and the wounded two Colonels, a Captain and a Lieutenant. The dead include two Court-martial officers. The bands which carried out the murders ranged from a dozen to twenty-four and it is stated that women participated. Many of the victims were still in bed when they were attacked.

Captain Newberry was shot in his bedroom in the presence of his wife. He made a good fight, wounding one of the raiders who was subsequently captured.

The attacks were made simultaneously on the officers living in lodgings outside the barracks. Four officers were shot in one house, three in another and two in another, whilst a retired officer, Major Fitzgerland was shot dead in his bed in his own house by three men. Another officer was killed in the street.

The auxiliary police captured three of the assassins but two of the auxiliaries were killed while going for reinforcements.

Great excitment prevails in the city. The police and the military are conducting raids throughout the city and holding up motor-cars and motor cyclists. The military cars are patrolling the streets and firing into air in order to scatter the crowds. There is grave uneasiness among the citizens, who fear reprisals.

The appalling series of cold-blooded murders in Dublin is filling in the city with the greatest horror, consternation and tension since 1916 They occurred at nine on Sunday morning and all were accomplished within the space of half an hour by several gangs. There were eight attacks at eight separate addresses. Most of the victims were shot in bed without a second's warning. Several had miraculous escapes.

Following the murders there was intensified military activity An aeroplane flew over the city and the troops and the police surrounded the sports ground at the Croke Park where a football match was in progress, and searched for arms. The Sinn Fein pickets fired on the police and the troops, who returned fire killing and wounding a number of people. A man and a woman were also killed in the stampeds which occurred. The murders are regarded as a sequel to the recent relentless pursuit of men whom the captured documents have shown to be the inner circle of the Republican murder gang. At least a score of such men were arrested in Dublin last week and the victims are mostly officers who were engaged in the preparation of evidence against them.

Two men O'Neill and Blake, who had been acquitted by the court-martial in Dublin for the murder of a policeman in Limerick in July were returning to their homes in two motor-cars from the Limerick junction when an armed man stopped the cars and shot dead O'Neill and a brother of Blake in mistake

JULLUNDER "MUTINY."

ECHO IN INDIA OF IRISH REPRESSION.

69 N. C. O'S AND MEN ON TRIAL.

1 SENTENCED TO DEATH: 13 TRANSPORTED FOR LIFE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

DELHI, Nov. 22.

An Indian Army Order, dated the 23rd November, contains the following:—

H. E. the Commander-in-Chief regrets to have to announce that serious cases of mutiny occurred in the 1st Battalion Connaught Rangers between the 28th June and 2nd July, at Jullunder and Solon in consequence of which sixty-nine Non-Commissioned officers and men were brought to trial, on the charges of varying degrees of mutiny.

Of these sixty-one were found guilty, and eight were acquitted. Of those found guilty, fourteen were sentenced to death by being shot. In the case of one private the sentence of death was carried into execution, at daybreak on the 2nd November and in the case of the remainder the death sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life and ites.

Thirty-six were sentenced to varying terms of penal servitude, eleven were sentenced to varying terms of imprisonment. In both the above cases, the sentences were in many instances commuted. Sentences of reduction to the ranks (where appropriate), and discharge with ignominy from His Majesty's service were awarded in addition to all the sentences of penal servitude or imprisonment.

DETAILS OF MUTINY.

In connection with the Associated Press message (reproducing the Indian Army Order, of November 23) which is given above, about the "mutiny" in the 1st Battalion, Connaught Rangers, at Jullunder and Solon, the following A. P. messages received at the time will bear repetition at the present juncture:—

The first news of this "mutiny" which was so lightly disposed of by the A. P. in about two dozen lines, was transmitted to India, by a telegram dated Simla, July 2 as under:—

"On the arrival of the last mail from England, the Connaught Rangers at Jullunder got much excited over the accounts which reached them of the recent Irish events. While one fourth of the battalion remained entirely loyal to the Colonel, the rest laid down their arms, surrendered the ammunition, and, while entirely respectful to the officers, regretted their inability to perform their duties and declared their sympathies with their friends at Home. They are now in a separate camp, with another British regiment in charge of them.

FIRING AT SOLAN.

It is reported from Solan in the Simla Hills, that on this news reaching the detachment there, some men attempted to seize arms and cartridges, but the guard promptly fired, killing two and wounding one, and all is now quiet. The detachment at Jutogh, 6 miles from Simla, is perfectly quiet. The whole affair is regarded as entirely due to political reasons. It is hoped that the prompt measures already taken by the authorities will prove successful in settling men down."

The following two further messages were subsequently flashed across the wires by the A. P. quoting the "Civil and Military Gazette," dated July 3 and 12 respectively:

"The "Civil and Military Gazette" publishes the following additional details of the Jullunder incident:—

On Monday morning, the men of the 1st Connaught Rangers, excited by certain news from Home, refused to go on parade and intimated that owing to the wrongs of Ireland they would not parade, but were still willing to draw their pay. To deal with this situation, detachments from the Seaforth Highlanders and Welsh Regiment were despatched to Jullunder, and on Thursday evening the disaffected men to the number of about 200 laid down their arms. A curious feature of this affair is that the men have been extraordinarily respectful to their officers saluting them with almost greater punctiliousness than before, and they have throughout maintained a keen sense of discipline.

QUIET AT JUTOGH.

The detachment at Jutogh near Simla has intimated that it is perfectly satisfied, and there is no likelihood of trouble. The fact that the men who endeavoured to rush the armoury at Solan were dealt with by their own men shows that the bulk of the detachment there are loyal."

"The 'C. and M. Gazette' says:—From the latest information to hand it appears to be established that the trouble with the Connaught Rangers at Jullundur (on arrival of the news about Ireland by the last English mail) was engineered from Ireland as Sinn Fein bags were hoisted in the barracks and Sinn Fein colours and rosettes were displayed by the men who refused to do duty. It is also important to remember that the greater part of the 200 men, who came out from home in the last two years, joined in the outbreak, but a special feature of the affair was the respectful attitude of those who laid down their arms at Jullundur and their offer to co-operate in putting down any possible disorder outside their regiment. It appears that one hundred men at Jullundur were loyal and that (the Company) stationed at Julogh also behaved well. About four hundred men at Jullundur were placed under guard.

DISAFFECTION ONLY LOCAL.

The trial of ringleaders there and at Solon was to take place shortly. The authorities are considering what action should be taken regarding others. It is satisfactory to observe that the disaffection has not been shared by any other Irish regiments in India, although the Jullundur recalcetrants emissaries to Ambala besides Solon and Jutogh. It is also a good sign that some of the Jullundur men have expressed regret for what they have done."

BENARES HINDU UNIVERSITY AFFAIRS.

PANDIT MALAVIYA'S DISCLAIMER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

BENARES, Nov. 22.

We learn from a press correspondent:—Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya says that there is absolutely no truth in the rumour published in the "Independent" of 21st instant that he has wired to the Maharaja of Mysore, the Chancellor of the Benares Hindu University, to come to Benares to handle the situation among students, as he himself was inclined to Non-Cooperation movement. He regrets that such a baseless rumour should have been given currency, to stop his opposition to the movement to induce or advice students to boycott schools and colleges or universities which receive Government aid or have, directly or indirectly, any relation with the Government. We are authorised to state that it grows deeper day by day. He sincerely wishes that the movement were at an end. The Panditji is very much improved in health and expects to be able to leave his bed and go about in a day or two.

Mr. C. R. Das and Babu Bepenchandra Pal have arrived in Benares on a short visit. It is believed that it is in conection with the matters, coming up in the next Session of the National Congress, upon which they are conferring with Pandit Malaviya.

The Hon. Dr. Ziauddin came here on a hurried visit to-day to consult Pandit Malaviya and some prominent members of the Hindu University in connection movethe students and Non-Cooperation movement. It is understood that he has been assured of the firmness of the Hindu University authorities in the matter.

There still seems to be some uncertainty about Mr. Gandhi's being able to be in Benares on the 23rd instant.

Brigadier-General R. B. Worcan, Major C. O. Harvey and Lieut.-Colonel S. M. Rice arrived at the Gererment House yesterday.

HORNIMAN AND THE I. T. U. C.

Mr. B. G. Horniman . . . is one of those all too-few Englishmen who carry their British principles with them when they come to India and who keep them in the open air during their stay in this land."—ANNIE BESANT.

"..... he has proved himself to be the embodiment of ..... an intrepid sincerity and integrity of purpose, indomitable courage and candour of speech and action, an instinctive and passionate love of justice and abiding and implacable love of liberty.' —SAROJINI NAIDU.

"The personality of B. G. Horniman is at once distinctive and many sided. Its informing qualities are utter fearlessness and a lofty integrity. He is constitutionally incapable of tolerating sham or compromising with the false. His vision of the truth is clear and complete, and he serves his ideals with unswerving fidelity and fervent conviction."—SYUD HOSSAIN.

To people who know of Mr. Horniman, merely as the editor of a newspaper who was deported, it must have seemed strange that the All-India Trade Union Congress, should have unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"That this Congress places on record its deep and grateful appreciation of the valuable services rendered by Mr. B G. Horniman to the cause of Indian Labour generally and of the workers in Bombay particularly by ably championing their cause and striving for their political and economical, uplift. [illegible] this Congress condemns the unjust [illegible]rary restraint placed upon Mr. [illegible]'s freedom and calls for the immediate removal of the said restraint."

Mr. Horniman had special claims to [illegible]nce as a champion of Indian Labour [illegible]dmitted by all who can recall the [illegible] he rendered to that most neglected section of the community—"the citizens of Parel Area," as he aptly styled the great body of the working population of the city. During the great Influenza epidemic of 1918, he was among the few that carried relief to the doors of the men. It is not easy to describe in the short compass of a newspaper article all that he did for reliving distress and alleviating suffering or misery among the stricken and famishing people of those areas. Suffice it to say, that the people for whom he laboured most disinterestedly, were not ungrateful, and still remember him with love and veneration.

The powerful appeal of his writings during [illegible]hose vast strikes which in the beginning 1919 threw out of employment more [illegible]e lakhs of factory workers, will not be forgotten. The mill strike of 1919 [illegible]for the greatest in the industrial history [illegible]city. Officials and the Police [illegible]whitewash on the side of Capital and [illegible]conduct of the then Chief of Police [illegible]ain tragic events, which could have [illegible]ed averted. The head of the Government was new to the Presidency—to India [illegible]Indian conditions and seemed at first to have been led away by the interested representations of his officials. Inspite of all this and the attempts to run him and his paper down, Mr. Horniman maintained a solid indifference to the meanness, and the calumny of his opponents and continued to advocate the cause of the strikers, with all the earnestness at his command. It was he who made the public in this city realise that—"the strain (of a strike) on the slender resources of the workers and the general misery of their families must react on the general community and is therefore a matter of the most serious moment."

Mr. Horniman recognized what others took years to recognize that the men had a right to strike for better wages and better conditions of Labour. He wrote:

"While resort to a general strike must always be deplored, from the points of view alike of the workers the employers, and the general community, it can hardly be denied that the strike is one of the recognized and legitimate weapons of organized Labour everywhere against organized capital."

His admiration for the unorganized Labour of Bombay which successfully maintained the struggle against their employers, was unbounded.

It was left to Mr. Horniman to visualise for the first time the condition of the working classes in this city. It had been till then a matter of indifference to the public and of apathy among the Capitalists Mr. Horniman was the first to present in his usual graphic style, a picture of the actual state of things. "The condition of the working classes in Bombay, as we have so often pointed out on previous occasions", he wrote in the "Bombay Chronicle". "is most unsatisfactory—more unsatisfactory than that of their confreres in the West—whether regard is had to the remuneration of their labour, the hours, their housing, the education of their children or the provision of the ordinary amenities of life." He was no less outspoken in his view of the responsibilities of Capital towards Labour. During the mill strike of 1919, he wrote—and the same applies to conditions in other industries as well:—"Hitherto the mill industry in India has been regarded practically in terms of agents' profits, dividends for shareholders and speculation in cotton and share markets. It is time the human factor involved which is of infinitely greater moment to national welfare came into its own. And in this regard the prime duty falls on millowners who must —in the ultimate interests of the industry itself—bring to bear on its performance foresight and a sense of justice. That they may be able to perform the duty well, it is necessary that efforts be made to bring about a satisfactory end of the present dispute. The argument that no understanding must be arrived at with Labour which does not assume the form of unconditional surrender, because such understanding will inevitably create fresh and increasing demands is an old-world notion betraying a guilty conscience. Let the relations of Labour and Capital be once based on reason and equity and there will automatically be an end to all such demands. Let there even be an honest beginning towards "the progressive realisation"—to use a hackneyed phrase—of this desirable end and if ever Labour makes unreasonable demands, the moral support of the public, we may assure the millowners, will emphatically be on their side. It is not the desire or interest of any sane and right thinking man to deprive Capital of its legitimate influence and dues. But there must be an end, as soon as possible, of its privileged domination." And further he said: "But no one with any knowledge of human nature and the realities of the relations of Labour and Capital will fail to recognize that these (Labour) troubles were inevitable, that the struggle of Labour against Capital must remain interminable and the intervals of peace must be like the proverbial calm before each storm. Until therefore this fundamental wrong is righted there is no choice for Labour in every part of the world —and for every honest citizen who feels the wrongs of the poor—but to see that no opportunity of securing an adjustment of the relations of Capital with Labour on an equitable basis is lost." No less outspoken and emphatic was his view of the Government's duty towards the strikes. "The Government cannot suppose that their duty begins and ends with giving the Police authorities a free hand." But in the circumstances which prevailed during the great mill strike of 1919, he urged the intervention of Government, precedent or no precedent, in putting an end to the obstinacy of employers.

About the organisation of Labour, he had very clear-cut notions. Long before the idea of a Trade Union Congress was even talked of, long before there was any specific attempt at organisation of Unions, he urged the formation of Trade Unions in India, as an essential preliminary to the successful struggle of Labour against Capital. On one occasion he wrote: "It is true that the formation of Trade Unions will be at first a task of a peculiarly difficult nature for these workmen, the majority of whom are illiterate and are living on what are practically starvation wages. Labour in this case must be directed by those who have enjoyed higher opportunities of education, whose temperament inclines them for social work, and who above all, are alive to the wrongs of the poor and the essential injustice of the Capitalist scheme of things which, by cheating the workers of an equitable share of what they produce, deprives them and the members of their families of the birthright of a human being—enough food, enough clothing, proper housing, proper education, and equal opportunity to realise himself fully,—and who can be expected to study the Labour problems of the West with a view to adapting to local conditions the various devices to which organised Labour in Europe has been resorting for the purposes of a peaceful agitation and for the reorganisation of industry on an equitable basis."

We heartily commend this to Sir Thomas Holland and others of his way of thinking, who seem to scent danger in the active association of "intellectuals" with the forces of Labour. That such association is necessary for the better organisation of Labour, no one who is conversant with Indian conditions will doubt or deny. Any attempts to belittle the endeavours of the true friends of Labour, among whom we can cite Messrs. Baptista and Tairsee, are interested, and inspired by Capitalistic sympathies. The fact that Horniman wrote the above long before the Trade Union Congress was ever thought of, is proof sufficient of his foresight and deep knowledge of the conditions on which Indian Labour had to fight its battle. These few recollections and quotations are enough to show that the tribute paid to him by the Trades Union Congress had been richly earned.

AN EXPLANATION.

We have received the following letter from the local agency of Reuters Ltd :—

Sir,—In your second Leader to-day you suggest that the despatch by our London Office of Lord Curzon's speech on Persia was connected with some concession alleged to have been granted by the Shah to some member of the Reuter family "not long ago."

I have to inform you that the Reuter family is extinct, the last member having been killed in action in 1915. Reuters is an ordinary English limited company and has no connection with the Imperial Bank of Persia.

I must ask you to withdraw the imputation contained in your Leader.—Yours, etc.,

F. J. FISHER,
Ag. General Manager.

In the Statesman's Year Book for 1920, under banking and credit in Persia (p. 1143) we find:—

"The Shah in 1889 granted a concession to Baron Julius de Reuter for the formation of a State Bank of Persia, with head office at Teheran and branches in the chief cities. The Bank was formed in the autumn of the same year, with the title 'The Imperial Bank of Persia,' and incorporated by Royal Charter, dated September 2, 1889. The authorised capital is 4 million sterling, which may be increased The Bank started with a capital of one million sterling, of which the greater part remitted to Persia at the then reigning exchange of 32-34. In consequence of the great fall in silver and the rise in the exchange, to 50 or more, the capital was reduced in December 1894, to 650,000L. The Bank has the exclusive right of issuing bank-notes not exceeding 800,000L. without the assent of the Persian Government. The issue of notes is on the basis of the silver Kran. In virtue of one of the articles in the concession the cash reserve for the first two years was 50 per cent., and afterwards 33 per cent. The Bank had the exclusive right of working throughout the Empire the iron, copper, lead, mercury, coal, petroleum, manganese, borax and, asbestos mines, not already conceded."

If the above does not relate in any way to the present firm of Reuters we willingly withdraw the imputation in our leader, and are utterly at a loss to explain the unusual measure of publicity accorded to Lord Curzon's speech.—(Editor "B. C.")

To Death or to Life?

BY BERNARD HOUGHTON.—IN "INDIA."

If you would lay bare the true ideals of a man, or of a body of men, or of a government, see on what objects he or they spend their income. In order to apply this test to the Government of India let us observe certain figures of their expenditure during the past two years. That is preferable to the figures of the current Budget, for Budget allotments have a habit of increase or decrease by transfer or otherwise, whereas the figures for these years are known and definite.

MILLIONS STERLING.

	Total Expenditure,	Army.	Education	Sanitation.
1918-9	127	45-1/2	4	1/2
1919-20	144	57-1/2	4-1/3	3/4

The Army figures for 1919-20 include the figures for the Afghan "War"—it is now officially called a war—namely, 14-1/2 millions. In a previous article in INDIA it was pointed out that for this affair, although the people of India did not call the tune, they most certainly would have to pay the piper. The tune has turned out to be rather costly, has it not? But of course blunders like those in East Africa and Mesopotamia ought not to be repeated. At any cost the prestige of government must be maintained.

Here is a civilised government; despotic rulere of a poverty-stricken people, so poor isdeed that nearly half of them seldom eat a full meal, of a people which it proclaims loudly that it is training for self-government, and on what does it spend its money? The grand object of expenditure, the darling of the government, is the soldier. On him is money lavished with both hands, he has but to ask and it is given. One-third of the total expenditure goes to the Army. Though for nearly a century Britain has alleged that her object was to prepare the Indians for self-government, though for democracy education is of the first importance, in these two years for £10 spent on the Army less then £1 has been given to the schools. This apart from the bounden duty of all governments professing civilisation to see to it that their peoples are educated. For education is the birthright of every child born. it is his right that he shall be able to see and understand and judge for himself. It is his right that he shall not be cut off from all the glorious heritage of human thought. It is his right that as far as may be he shall have equal opportunities with others and ability as a citizen to fulfil to the utmost of his powers his duties to his country. From all this the Government of India, composed itself of educated men, has shut and barred out the great majority of the helpless masses committed to its care. In so doing it has not merely been negligent; it has committed a crime against India.

Note, too, in a land ravaged by plague and cholera and fever, the miserly sum devoted to sanitation. All this disease is, in the light of recent discoveries, wholly or largely preventable. Consider the piteous tragedy of it all, husbands, wives and children dying in millions by needless deaths, countless numbers sick and infirm for long periods of their lives. Does the Government of India, with the light of knowledge in its hands, hasten to relieve this mass of suffering, to avert these premature deaths? Does it show the people that it exists largely to mitigate these evils? No, aloof on the hills of Simla, it contents itself with doling out less than a million for all sanitation in all India. For all the good that sum can do, you might as well take a single spade to till a hundred acre field.

No more damning judgement of the Government of India can be found than in these figures. Out of its own mouth is it condemned. It is idle to seek excuse, as the Finance Minister did, in the example of Japan since the Armistice. Two blacks do not make a white. For Japan, like India, is governed by the soldier. Fantastic, too, to imagine that the money spent on the army is needed to guard the N. W. Frontier against tribesmen destitute of the great modern engines of destruction. As for the Soviet Government, its actions show that it is certainly not "a great aggressive military power." Its chief crimes seem to be that it has repudiated the debts of Russia, and, worse [still that it has defended itself when attacked. Not against Russia is a large army needed. The army in India appears to be a two-edged weapen, designed less to hold out the foreigner, thanto hold down the people who pay for it.

Such a monstrous military expenditure blights the whole life of a nation. Hard it is for England to bear the taxes entailed by the doctrine of blood and iron, though the people are the wealthiest in the world and with some quantum of education. How much more terrible for India, poor, uneducated, suffering! What is the remedy? Therei is only one remedy for this policy which starves the schools in order the army may gorge. "Control the Budget and you control the policy." So only is it possible to end this perversion of the public revenues. Unless and until the people of India control the Budget, they may be certain that the schools will be totally inadequate and that their children, their wives and themselves will die of quite preventable diseases. Let them accept no excuses, however plausible, and no professions, however magnanimous. Whether by non-cooperation or by other means it is essential that they hold control of the money. Let them wrest it from the hands of those who in the past have so perverted these revenues wrung from the masses who toil and suffer and starve. Without a pice of extra taxation there is money and to spare for education and sanitation for some years to come. Shall the Indian revenue be used to build up the machinery of death, or shall it be consecrated to the course of life, of life for mind and body? That is the supreme issue, which let Indians decide with no uncertain voice.

SERIES OF MURDERS IN DUBLIN.

that the Irish people are aiding the authorities to break up the murder gang to an extent not dreamed of three months ago.

IRISH PRESS OPINIONS.

BRUTALITIES CONDEMNED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 8-10 p.m., Nov. 23.

Even the Irish press seems staggered at the awfulness of the latest example of Sinn Fein extremism. The "Irish Times" remarks:—"A country whose capital is the scene of fourteen callous and cowardly murders has reached the nadir of moral degradation. If there is any national instinct or righteousness surely they will assert themselves now."

The "Freeman's Journal" asks what the end is to be. It blames Government for Ireland's situation and says:—"A halt must be made and Government must try to find its way back to the road to right reason and Christian principles and the Irish people must pull together unitedly to find the way out."

THE MOUNT STREET MURDERS.

HOW THEY WERE ACCOMPLISHED,

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, Nov. 21.
Recd. 8 p.m., Nov. 23.

Graphic details are related of the murder in Mount Street Dublin. Seventeen R.I.C. cadets were passing a house in a lorry when some women screamed out from a window that an officer had been murdered. The party surrounded the house and sent off two to the barracks for reinforcements. The rest entered the house where three officers were living. They declared that the murderers entered the bedroom where two officers were sleeping by a bogus story about a letter and immediately fired shots, killing one officer. The other escaped and the murderers then went to the room of the third officer, who jumped out of bed knowing what to expect. He remained behind the door and dropped on to his knee as they pulled the door open. The murderers fired twelve shots into the bed and then decamped. It is stated that the cadets arrested the men inside the house and three in the vicinity, all carrying revolvers. Meanwhile the two cadets who had been sent for reinforcements were killed evidently by the rest of the gang watching the house.

The procedure in the other raids was very similar to that adopted in Mount Street, but in the case of the Gresham Hotel where two officers were murdered fifteen armed men held up the hotel staff with revolvers and forced the porter to take the party to the officers' bedrooms. In another case three men were taken into the backyard and shot there. Sometimes the gang interrogated victims and first ransacked the rooms, destroying what they understood to be incriminating evidence against Sinn Feiners.

VIEWS OF ARCHBISHOP MANNIX.

ARMY OF OCCUPATION MUST BE CLEARED OUT."

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)
LONDON, Nov. 21.
Recd. 8 p.m., Nov. 23.

Archbishop Mannix speaking at Bolton declared that he knew of no murder gang in Ireland. If the gang existed only the Sinn Fein Parliament could put it down If the army of occupation was cleared out, Ireland would be peaceful. There were no outrages until soldiers were sent there.

"CONTRACT TREATED AS SCRAP OF PAPER."

CHARGE AGAINST INDIA OFFICE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, Nov 20.
Recd. 7-40 p.m. Nov 23.

That a contract had been treated as a scrap of paper was a charge against the India Office in an unusual case which was adjourned in the King's Bench in which plaintiff Denning, ex-Superintendent of the Industries, Bengal protested that he was enticed to India by a five year contract with the India Office which was broken by termination of his appointment after three years; whereby the plaintiff was stranded and professionally ruined, The Attorney General for the India Office denied that there was any imputation against the plaintiff who was dismissed owing to illhealth but he pointed out that the contract did not say that the ordinary power to dismiss was excluded.

TREATY OF SEVRES.

POSSIBILITY OF REVISION.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 7-40 p.m. Nov 23.

Possibility of the revision of the Treaty of Sevres is again raised by the events in Greece. Reuter's Paris correspondent discussing the question mentions the Smyrna report that the moral of the Greek troops in certain districts in Asia Minor is bad and says that the French Foreign Office recognises that the revision may be necessary as the treaty was made on the theory that it could be enforced only through the Greek cooperation

An Athen's telegram on the other hand declares that the Rhallis Cabinet will not only follow M. Venezelos' foreign policy but order the Greek troops in Asia Minor again to take offensive against the Kemalists.

Geneva.—The Commission of the Assembly of the League of Nations has decided that it has no technical competence to agree to the Indian proposal to have a seat on the Governing Body of the International Labour Office. MURDER OF CAPT. MACLEAN.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 7-10 p.m., Nov. 23.

All motor and train traffic in Dublin was stopped yesterday afternoon. Amongst the massacres one case was particularly revolting in brutality. A party of between twelve and twenty men knocked at the door of a house and when it was opened they rushed in and dragged the landlord Mr Smith and Captain MacLean who were in bed with their wives out of bed and prepared to despatch them forthwith. But on Captain MacLean imploring them not to murder him before his wife's eyes they forced two men and the brother-in-law of Mrs. MacLean into another room and shot them in cold blood. Another victim was Captain Baggalay who lost a leg in the war. It is stated that the murderers were strangers to Dublin and that they were put in the hands of guides some of whom were girls, who knew private houses in which officers lived.

MAYOR OF CORK UNDER POLICE PROTECTION.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 7-10 p.m., Nov. 23.

It is officially stated that the Lord Mayor of Dublin has applied to the police for protection and is at present being guarded by Black and Tans.

MORE TALES OF MURDERS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 7-10 p.m., Nov. 23.

Two Black and Tans were ambushed in County Cork. One was killed and the other seriously wounded. The well-known sporting journalist Mr. Cowley has been shot dead by the military through failing to answer the military challenge. He was sixty-two years' old and somewhat deaf.

It is officially announced that a police party in motor lorries near Killarney was fired on by eighty Sinn Feiners. The police replied wounding one. When returning to barracks at Skibbereen on Sunday one constable was shot dead and a second seriously wounded Another constable was speaking to a young girl in the street on Sunday at Lismore, when a volley was fired at him from a passing motor car. The constable was dangerously wounded and the girl's leg was shattered.

LATEST CABLES.

BRITISH POLICY IN PERSIA.

SIR HUGH BARNES' VIEWS.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 1-30 a.m., Nov. 23.

Sir Hugh Barnes writing to "The Times" criticises the views of "The Times" and the Aga Khan regarding Mesopotamia and Persia. He asks if the abandoning of traders and townspeople and leaving the Arabs to fight out some form of Government is consistent with the trust involved in the mandate for Mesopotamia. He points out that many wellinformed persons are of opinion that it is impossible to form a stable Arab Government. The history of Arab domination in Mesopotamia tends to support this view, while if we withdraw troops and cease to interfere outside Basra Vilayet, the return of the Turk may prove to be the only practicable settlement.

Referring to Persia, he declares, that the withdrawal of the British Indian brigade would leave Persia defenceless and the inevitable Bolshevik advance would expel the European Legations, the Shah and the most propertied Persians, while the State Bank and other firms would have to close down and the Indo-Persian border would be threatened. He asserts that it will probably be at least twelve months before local organisation is ready as a substitute for the Brigade withdrawal, of which he does not believe the British Government or people would approve. He strongly urges, that cost of the upkeep of troops in Persia should be borne by India and not by the British taxpayer and urges the Aga Khan to use his great influence to support this, as the maintenance of a strong united and independent Persia is essentially of Indian interest. He says that British occupation of Basra and the subsequent advance to Bagdad directly the Turks declared war, constituted a strategic obligation not influenced by the presence of oil in Mesopotamia or Persia.

FRENCH AND BRITISH PREMIERS.

TO CONFER ON NEAR EAST SITUATION

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 1.30 a.m., Nov. 23.

The French Premier M. Leygues will shortly leave for London on a visit to Mr. Lloyd George, when the situation arising in the Near East owing to the Greek crisis will be discussed. The "Temps" expressing satisfaction at the impending visit says that the pacification of the Near East is certainly an urgent problem, the solution of which, however, is to be found only in agreement between the Allied Governments not on side issues but on the whole of their policies.

FRENCH FOREIGN TRADE.

MATERIAL IMPROVEMENT.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 1.30 a.m., Nov. 23.

Paris 20.—The Havas Agency says:—Official statistics of French foreign trade during the first ten months of 1920 show very material improvement over the same period of 1919, although the balance is still on the debit side, owing chiefly to the necessity of importing large quantities of grain and coal to make up for the deficit resulting from the devastation of the richest agricultural districts and the destruction of mines by the Germans. The imports were nearly twelve hundred millions sterling (at par rate), being an increase of about eighty millions, but the exports exceeded seven hundred millions, being an increase of nearly four hundred and forty millions due chiefly to the vigorous impulse given to the export of manufactured articles.

ADMISSIONS TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

SUB-COMMISSIONS APPOINTED.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)
LONDON, Nov. 22.
Recd. 1.30 a.m., Nov. 23.

Geneva.—The question of new admissions to the membership of the League of Nations was discussed by the special commission charged with examining the applications. M. Viviani (France) remarked that the commission would pronounce on individual cases after the examination of facts. M. Millen (Australia) and Prince Ranjitsinjhi (India) urged that the commission must be guided by sentiments of justice and the interest of the State requesting admission. Three subcommissions were appointed to consider applications from the view point of the stability of Governments making applications, of which the most important is presided over by Lord Robert Cecil. It includes M. Branting and M. Viviani and will deal with Austria and Bulgaria.

Tilak Memorial Committees wishing to have a genuine bust or statue of him are requested to ask from Mr. Wagh photographs of the same lest they be misled. Lok. gave Mr Wagh special sittings and on approval of the model placed an order for a marble bust with him.

Lok.'s son says the bust is better than any he saw until now. He and Mrs. Besant write "the bust is a speaking likeness of Lokamanya."

Lokamanya's marble and bronze busts and statues in large and small sizes are also being executed by Mr. Wagh.

NON-COOPERATION.

WHAT IT MEANS.

"CO-OPERATION WITH PEOPLE."

BOYCOTT OF GOVT. SCHOOLS NECESSARY.

(From our own Correspondent.)

RANGOON, Nov. 22.

Interviewed by a representative of the "Rangoon Mail" Swami Shraddhanand asserted that Non-Cooperation was the only course left to self-respecting citizens. Instead of Non-Cooperation with Government he would characterise it as "Cooperation with the people." Hitherto we had neglected the people. We had neglected their institutions, and now at last, it has been proposed to open people's schools, people's Panchyats, people's arbitration boards. Government had always professed a desire to maintain peace and order in the country. If the professions were true, Government should only be delighted at the birth of this movement of Cooperation amongst the people. The Swami had never approved of the prevalent system of education. It was slavish, calculated to train our boys into an army of clerks and subordinates, fit only to do "jobs" for Government. It did not impart. Real education. It lacked the very principles of education.

KANGRI GURUKULA.

He had realized this long ago and about 19 years back started the Gurukala at Kangri. The object of the Gurukula was producing scholars that have been bred in an atmosphere free from the taint of unwholesome, intellectual bondage. It is the only institution in the world where students are taught ancient sanscrit classics in original Sanskrit, in an atmosphere surcharge with ancient traditions, habits of thought and modes of learning. Here Sanskrit was the first language, Hindi the medium of insruction and English was taught as a third language. In the Gurukula all subjects, even Political Science, Chemistry, Higher Mathematics Political Economy and Western Philosophy are taught, through the medium of Hindi. Realizing as he did the poisonous effects of the present system of Education. the Swami could not mind the boycott of Educational institutions, but he thought the best way to do this was to call meetings of guardians in different places and discuss the whole thing there. The Swami thought that colleges should be immediately boycotted for the atmosphere was nowhere so slavish as in these institutions. To-day, in Lahore, pledges were being demanded from collegians that they would not take part in political assemblies without previously obtaining the permission of the principal and there was ample work to keep them employed. They could go to different villages and teach people. Villagers would be only too glad to receive them and give them enough bread and butter to go on. Of course this involved self-sacrifice, but without self-sacrifice there was no go. This life would make them self-reliant and build up their character wonderful. He could even to-day, find out such work for at least 5,000 students in the United Provinces and the Punjab.

SELF-CONTROL NECESSARY.

The Swami was inclined to believe that repression would soon be introduced, but did not think that anything stern would be done till the Duke of Connaught had come and gone. Anyway, he asserted that if the people continued to keep up self-control, even in face of grave provocations and did not lose the balance under any circumstances, the bureaucracy was bound to collapse. The success of the movement entirely depended on the degree of self-control we could maintain.

"NON-COOPERATION FULL OF PERIL.

ADI DRAVIDAS' MORTAL FEAR!

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, Nov. 21.

At a public meeting of the Adi Dravidas of Madras, this evening, at Gokhale Hall, the following resolutions were adopted:—

"This public meeting of the Adi Dravidas of Madras representing six millions of Adi Dravidas in this Presidency resolves that Non-Cooperation is full of infinite possibilities of peril to the cause of the country in general and our community in particular, that it is calculated to put the hand of the clock of progress back by several centuries in matters educational, industrial, and social, and to restore Manu Anidhi (injustice) and Varnashrama Adharma in this unhappy country, as is proved by the statement of Mr. Gandhi that he is an upholder of caste system to which alone our community as well as the country owe almost all their ills, social, political, and economical. Therefore, this meeting most emphatically condemns this reactionary movement and calls upon all Adi Dravidas to render all possible assistance to the authorities in supporting them.

A VALUED ASSURANCE.

This meeting further resolves that if Non-Cooperationists succeed, by mischance, in gaining their object and in driving the British out of India at this critical period in the history of our community, when we stand the most in need of British protection, help, and sympathy, the Adi Dravidas whose ancestors fought with Clive and helped in establishing Pax Britanica in this country will do everything in their power to bring the British back not by following the so-called Non-Violent fighting against the reactionary Non-Cooperationists.

"DYER—AN ANGEL OF MERCY."

This meeting is firmly convinced that General O'Dwyer, who made a short work of some hundreds of Indians in a moment of panic, was an angel of mercy compared with those Indians who uphold caste system of Varnashrama Dharma which result in racial segregation and consequently living death of sixty millions of men and women, for the last so many centuries, and that Colonel Frank Johnson (sic) who ordered the Indians to crawl on their bellies through a certain street in Amritsar was the soul of compassion compared with those Varnashrama Adharmists who would not allow the members of our community even to crawl on their bellies through the streets, and calls upon Mr. Gandhi and his co-workers to have moral courage to remove these grosser and greater social wrongs of ages before trying to redress lesser political wrongs of yesterday, and seeking to destroy British Government which has been, and still is on the whole, justest and best Government which India has had or can have at the present imperfect stage of her [illegible] evolution.

SEGREGATION IN E. A.

NON-CO-OPERATION RECOMMENDED.

(From a Correspondent.)

NAIROBI, Nov. 21.

The following resolutions were adopted at a mass meeting at Nairobi for adoption at the next Session of the Congress, Mombasa:—

"This Congress is satisfied that the British protectorates in Eastern Africa in general, and Kenya Colony, in particular, are not administered on British principles of justice and fairness; and, therefore, this Congress declares that it has no confidence in these administration.

This Congress is further satisfied that apprehensions of the Indian community as regards their rights and vested interests, instead of being dispelled are only confirmed by speech of Lord Milner in the House of Lords on the 14th of July, 1920. and subsequent announcement of Indian policy by Governors of Kenya, East Africa Protectorates and Uganda.

RESOLVE OF NON-COOPERATION.

This Congress therefore resolves that unless and until justice is done to the Indian community (A) by removing, immediately, all disabilities resulting from the adoption of the principle of segregation of races in East African territories which is most injurious and detrimental to political and economical development of the Indian subjects of His Majesty the King; (B) by granting the British Indian subjects of His Majesty, the King, the right of franchise on the same basis as that on which it is granted to Europeans on a common register; (C) by removing all disabilities imposed upon the British Indians in acquiring land in any part of the Colony of Kenya, and Protectorates, of East Africa, Uganda and Zanzibar; and (D) by removing the racial bar which at present exists in the way of the Indian Civil Servants being appointed and promoted to the officer's grade to adopt the following programme of Non-Cooperation with Government and European community (A) resignation of all members from Government bodies (B) nonpayment of Government and Municipal taxes (C) to refer all disputes amongst the Indians to arbitrations (D) to make provision by trade unions or otherwise collect funds for maintenance and (E) to recommend all Indian employees to go on general strike.

MADRAS STUDENTS ON NON-COOPERATION.

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, Nov. 20.

A correspondent from Madras writes: A meeting of the Madras Presidency College Union was held last evening, Mr. Duncan, Principal presiding. Mr. K Srinivasa Iyengar, Vice Chancellor of the University of Madras and many professors and Assistant professors were present. About 500 students also attended the meeting. Mr. Subba Rao proposed that Non-Cooperation is ethically justifiable and practically efficacious as means of achieving political ends. Of about fifteen speakers that followed, only two supported the opposition. The Vice Chancellor, in a short speech, said that he did not wish to influence their votes, but that he must ask them to bear in mind that they owed their duty of obedience to their parents. Mr. Duncan in winding up the debate emphasised the same. The resolution being put to vote was carried by a majority only about twenty voting against.

MORE RECRUITS FOR NON-COOPERATION.

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, Nov. 20.

A Masulipatam correspondent says that at a meeting held, 21 students studying in the local College and High School, took an oath either to join the National College or to take part in National movements. Three students of the B. A. Class have withdrawn from the College.

PANDIT NEHRU AT BENARES.

ADDRESS TO HINDU UNIVERSITY STUDENTS.

(Associated Press.)

BENARES, Nov. 22.

Pandit Motilal Nehru addressed the Hindu University students yesterday morning. Before his speech an encouraging and exhorting letter from the Aligarh Non-cooperation students was read. In his speech the Pandit wanted the students to consider the situation very calmly and then to act on conviction. He called the non-cooperation movement a spiritual war; and soldiers, he wanted students who were mentally equipped, and able bodied since war required sacrifices of able bodied men, to come forward and join the movement. If Non-Cooperation were to succeed it would be due to Aligarh and Benares, and as the masses only could change the face of any country, he asked the students to do propaganda work among the masses and to train them.

SWARAJ—THE ONLY REMEDY.

Then he dwelt on destructive and constructive sides of non-cooperation and urged the audience to eject the usurper from their midst and then to work for building up. Non-cooperation was the road to Swaraj. It was thorny, full of dangers, and pitfalls. It must not deter them from making the movement successful. Studen's must forget their career and future prospects just as the English youths did in the last war; but wanted united response and readiness to work. He said of many Bombay merchants had refused subscriptions so long as Government control was there, and said they could not accept grant from one who forcibly took their right. consistently with their self-respect. He passionately appealed for cultivating strong self-respect without which they could not stand. To those who asked if the remedy of the Punjab and Khilafat questions would end non-cooperation, he said, that the real remedy can only be the impossibility for a repetition of such actions and Swaraj only could accomplish that. In conclusion he again urged for united action and response for the attainment of complete Swaraj.

The Panditjee was then asked for an explanation on which he explained the terms non-violence and Hijrat. One student asked if hunger strike was not the best weapon for nationalising the Hindu university Some students signed the N.C.O. bond, but a number of them withdraw afterwards.

Mr. Gandhi is expected here on the 24th instant and non-cooperation volunteers are arranging for his reception.

ATTACK ON MR. GANDHI.

MOMBASA NEWSPAPER BOYCOTTED.

MOMBASA, Nov. 22.

CORRESPONDENCE.

HAVE YOU HEARD?

(To the Editor of "The Chronicle.")

Sir,—Have you heard of the Parsee peon, engaged by the Telegraphs to deliver telegrams, who was caught red-handed by a plain clothes policeman actually tearing some telegrams—was taken to the lock up and set free?

Have you heard of the Punjabee peon who burnt about 40 telegrams given him for delivery, was caught by some telegraph clerks and when questioned said he was instigated to do so by the strikers—on this confession he was given a return ticket to the Punjab?

Have you heard of the thousands of telegrams both inland and foreign—some addressed to well-known firms, which are actually rotting in the Telegraph Offices?

These stories may be rumours only, but they require a thorough investigation. The authorities may go on saying "Deliver the telegrams? Oh, bosh, let them lie there, who cares! We'll show these coolies (?) to dare go against us and in a strike!" Yes, who cares and who suffers?

RUMOURS ALL—BUT....!

A NEW INVENTION.

(To the Editor of "The Chronicle".)

Sir,—A few days ago an announcement was made in the Marathi weekly paper "Kesari" of Poona that an inventer of a spinning machine enabling any ordinary man to spin ten times more than the present system would be awarded a handsome sum. As regards this I would like to appeal to our Indian capitalists to come forward to render financial assistance to the "National Industries and Art Works" Malvan, District Ratnagiri, which is ready to start such works for producing the said type of portable spinning machines. I strongly believe that such a machine would do immense good to poverty-stricken-men of India and will solve the question of the present economic situation. Those men taking keen interest in industrial enterprises are requested to correspond to the address stated above."—Yours etc.

A SYMPATHISER.

"BACK TO HINDUISM."

(To the Editor of "The Chronicle".)

Sir,—In your issue, of the 28th ultimo, you were good enough to give nearly full two columns of your valuable space to a letter from Mr. A. J. Nakhwa, heading it "Back to Hinduism." I find in your issue, of the 5th instant, a short, sensible and pertinent letter from Mr. B. I. Bhatt. I agree with Mr. Bhatt and respectfully submit that no argument whatsoever has been advanced against the truth of Christianity. My only regret is, that so far as these parts are concerned, the exercise, by Portugal, of patronage even over Catholics who are not her subjects, and consequent interference in matters ecclesiastical to the detriment of the good of the people who own by reason of the aforesaid patronage, the jurisdiction of the Portuguese prelates; this with the opposition to the propaganda has produced such sad results that one cannot sufficiently deplore them. In 1884, Cardinal Jacobini, then Papal Secretary of State, wrote a strong letter to the then Portuguese Ambassador to the Holy See, the Marquis of Thomar, in which he made serious allegations against the clergy, remarking "inter alia," "they (the clergy) fix their minds on augmenting their own incomes in the exercise of the Holy Ministry. The people, ill-instructed and abandoned to themselves, who, seldom visited by the priest, see him more intent on his own gain than on their spiritual good, naturally are reduced to live a pagan life, or as happens in various villages miserably return to paganism."

How the consequences have effected the fishermen under the archbishop of Bombay, I forbear saying for fear my letter should be rejected on the score of length. The lower classes of converts, of which Mr. Nakhwa seems to be a type, have always been very difficult to deal with, as their history shows. The truths and the foundations of Christianity are impregnable; but I would strongly impress on leading Catholics both lay and clerical the great desirability there of providing Catholics in all parishes with efficient schools where they may imbibe secular and religious knowledge so that being well instructed, fortified and confirmed in their Faith and Belief, they may be proof against the subtle seductions of wily wire-pullers and the artful designs of the cunning. The existence of the Double Jurisdiction. I would beg leave to observe, present the Catholic church as a divided body. It is a source of no small weakness and trouble. This should be remedied. Yours &c.

AN INDIAN CATHOLIC.

A CORRECTION.

(To the Editor of "The Chronicle".)

Sir,—I beg to draw your attention at the figures of the leaderette under the heading of "Municipal Finance" appearing in your to-day's Chronicle, which read as under:—

"Against estimated income of Rs. 2,27,28,000 for 1921-22 is shown the possible expenditure of Rs. 2,24,82,000 for the same year, thus bearing a closing net working cash balance of Rs. 24,77,000."

The difference between the estimated income for 1921-22 and the possible expenditure for the same year should be Rs. 2,46,000 and not Rs. 24,77,000 as shown by you.

I think I am accurate at the above figure but however if I am wrong I shall be glad to correct myself.—Yours etc.

GOKHALE AND TILAK.

Some time back we reproduced a letter by Sir Valentine Chirol in the "New Statesman" relating to the late B. G. Tilak. The following reply thereto by "D. V. A." from Poona, published in the same paper, will be read with interest:—

I have carefully read Sir Valentine Chirol's letter published in your issue of August 21st. It has interest for me, only in so far as he drags in the name of the late Mr. Gokhale to support some of his conclusions as to some aspects of the late Mr. Tilak's public life. I had been in very close touch with Mr. Gokhale, at any rate, during the last half a dozen years of his life, and may claim intimate acquaintance with certain traits of his character. In private conversation even with his best friends, he used to mention Mr. Tilak only very rarely, and whenever he did so, his remarks never failed to give proof of the high regard he had for his political opponent, widely as they differed on public questions. It seems unlikely that he could ever have regarded Mr. Tilak in the light mentioned by Sir Valentine. Nor does it seem at all probable that Mr. Tilak waited till Mr. Gokhale's death, for bringing his libel action against Sir Valentine, fearing Mr. Gokhale could give "extremely damaging" evidence against him, (Mr. Tilak), as Sir Valentine seems to hint. Mr. Gokhale's dislike for the demoralising atmosphere surrounding law courts was so intense that he would avoid having recourse to them except under extreme provocation. Indeed, the occasions when he attended them in the course of his twenty-five years' pubic life are very, very rare—not more, I believe, than three or four. The vernacular extremist Press used to pour on his devoted head, any amount of abuse of the most vulgar kind, accompanied by the attribution of the vilest motives to him. In the case of one with a little less of that positive abhorrence of the law courts, which characterised Mr. Gokhale, they would have made themselves liable to be prosecuted for libel. But their security lay in Mr. Gokhale's rooted dislike of law courts. This does not mean that he never brought any action for libel. It must be added, in fairness, that he did bring two actions to clear his character, but that was only under gross provocation and extreme pressure from friends, whose advice he could not well disregard. The smallness of the number, however, goes to strengthen my point.

Sir Valentine appears to me to be far from correct when he says that "Mr. Gokhale was as violently traduced (in respect of the Age of Consent Bill, 1890) as any British bureaucrat in the columns of Mr. Tilak's newspapers." The fact of the matter is, that Mr. Gokhale being then young was not much known to fame, and the Tilak Press, for obvious reasons, did not like to give any prominence to him by mentioning him. It would, however, be correct to apply the above description to the party to which Mr. Gokhale belonged, rather than to Mr. Gokhale personally.

It seems to me that it is most inappropriate and unfortunate on the part of a responsible journalist in the position of Sir Valentine Chiorl, that he should have referred to certain statements, alleged to have been made to him in the course of a private conversation by Mr. Gokhale, for the unedifying purpose of blackening the character of his political opponent. It is extremely unfair that he should come forward to use them for his own purpose at a time when he knows full well that there is no satisfactory means of verifying them.—Yours, etc.,

MYSORE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

INTERPELLATIONS.

(Associated Press.)

BANGALORE, Nov. 22.

Several of the interpellations at to-day's meeting of the Mysore Legislative Council referred to the communal questions relating to the Non-Brahmins and the backward classes. The Chief Secretary to the Government, replying to the interpellation, stated that the question of adequate representation of Non-Brahmins in Amildari and other services is under the consideration of the Government. To another interpellation, the Chief Secretary stated that on the 1st of July 1912, there were 330 gazetted officers in the state, of whom 56 belonged to the backward classes and on the 1st July 1919 there were 434 gazetted officer of whom 137 belonged to the backward classes. Asked whether the Government order stating that 25 per cent. of the officials in the subordinate services must consist of the members of the backward communities had been carried into effect, the Chief Secretary said that the percentage of appointments of all grades including menials given to the members of the backward communities in 1918 (calendar year) was 41 per cent, and in 1919 was 42 per cent. There were other interpellations relating to the backward classes scholarships. One of the resolutions to be discussed at the meeting, recommends the publication of the recommendations of the Committee presided over by Sir Leslie Miller which enquired into the question of representation of the Non-Brahmins in public services, and of taking action on those recommendations.

Mr. A. R. Bannerji, I.C.S., replying to a question regarding Sir Alfred Chatterton's services to the State and the terms of his engagement said that Sir Alfred Chatterton was appointed Director of sandal oil factories on certain terms from August, 1913, on his retirement from British Indian service. In January 1920, his terms were revised and he was permitted to accept the position of the Industrial Adviser to the Tatas' bank. For his duties connected with sandal oil factories, he now receives a commission on gross realisations.

Opinions of the Day.

Trade Unionism in India.

"New India".—The Indian labourer has been exploited too long. He is enslaved and he must be taught to break his fetters. Conditions which prevail to-day, if continued, will breed a revolution of war; Trade Unionism and similar work will bring about a revolution of peace.

Mr. Surendranath Bannerjea.

The "A. B. Patrika".—Having got in the Council, a ministerial portfolio is a mere walk over to him (Mr. Surendranath Bannerjea.) The meed he well deserves and we shall be the first to congratulate him when he has been installed in the "gadi". The pity he will find an empty pocket (not personaly speaking of course) and may not be able to do anything more than merely saying 'ditto' to the civilian administrators as he has said to whatever has come from a 'liberal' Eiglish stateman, be he a Morley or a Montagu. But let him try and make the reforms a success by means of Aladin's lamp if he has one or in any other way.

Success of Non-Cooperation.

The "Hindu".—It will thus be seen that so far as Bombay is concerned its response to the call for boycott of the booths has been very considerable. According to estimates only about 20 per cent. of the total electorate polled while among the Hindu voters less than 10 per cent. appear to have been Co-operationists. We believe that in other towns in the Presidency the proportion of actual to potential voters has been equally ridiculous. While it is too early to speak of other provinces, there can be little doubt that only a smal proportion of the electorate will go to the polls and the moral authority of a Council elected under such circumstances can easily be imagined.

New Concil Presidents.

The "Leader".—The Speaker wrote in reply to a letter from Mr. Ben Tillett: 'As Speaker, I am the spokesman and representative of the whole House of Commons, and wihout the authority or instructions of the House I do not think that I ought to take it upon myself to act. Speaker Lenthall's famous reply to Charles I is ever in my mind, and although a good many things have happened since then, the principle still remains the same.' The allusion to Speaker Lenthall is the following as explained by the "Times". When Charles I visited the House of Commons and demanded that Speaker Lenthall should give up the five members whom he had impeached, Lenthall replied: 'I have neither eyes to see nor tongue to speak save as the members should direct them.' This is the ideal which the presidents of our new legislative councils should always keep before themselves. Viceroys and governors and Lieutenant Governors and chief commissioners acting as presidents have never been able to forget that they are the heads of the executive government.

National Education.

The "Tribune".—To say that there is no such thing as Indian physics, Indian mathematics or Indian chemistry, is to make a pedantic exhibition of one's famiiarity with the commonplace that science, unlike literature and art, is international. But although there is no nationality in science, who but a tyro does not know that nationality and freedom have much to do with the highest development of the scientific spirit and of science itself? It is true that there are cases on record, and our own recent history is not wholly lacking in these, in which even a state of subjection has not been found incompatible with individual contributions of the highest value to the domain of physical science. But individual genius has in all ages been known to transcend the imitations that define the activities or the development of the generality of men.

Test of Leadership.

The "Servant".—The Non-Cooperation movement has at least done one great service to the country. It has afforded an infallible test for winnowing the chaff from the grain. Leaders who have been only too willing to take upon themseves the burden of piloting the political activities of the country have had to come out in their true colours. It is not possible to play fast and loose for any length of time with a movement which is exclusively based on truth and self-sacrifice. At the first summons to subordinate personal interests to those of the country, the pseudopatriot stands unmasked. Those who joined the ranks of the politicians in order to advertise themselves as champions of the rights of the people feel mortally disconcerted when the people actually come forward to claim their due and demand that their views be given effect to. But our "laeders" are only out to lead and make no bones about seceding when called upon to follow the people's wishes. They expected to have a monopoly of leadership and in the name of democracy to establish for themselves a cosy autocracy. How disappointed they must be, when their efforts have succeeded in spite of themselves! We have been led to these observations on seeing the fierce scramble that is about to take place for seats in the Legislative Council. The sweets of office, even honorary office, are far too tempting for the Indian character to resist. We are only sorry for those who obeyed the Congress mandate on principle even though they were personally opposed to it. They have missed an opportunity they might not get again.

A Doctor says:

"I do not think so good a food as Glaxo can be brought before the public by the medical profession too strongly."

Glaxo is the food doctors recommend and rear their own babies on. This is because Glaxo is not an "artificial" food, but is just pure, uncontaminated milk made safe and suitable for baby by the Glaxo process. Glaxo contains NO malt, NO flour, NO starch.

Glaxo

"Builds Bonnie Babies"

has been persistently used by Infant Welfare Centres in Great Britain for the last twelve years. These Centres now purchase nearly a quarter of a million pounds weight of Glaxo every month, enough to feed over 50,000 babies continuously.

PARIPAN

ENAMEL

THE MORE YOU WASH IT THE BETTER IT BECOMES.

The Paripan Process of Painting has been used througout India both for Inside and Outside work for some years past. Its chief characteristics are Durability, Beauty of Finish and Resistance to the trying Climatic Conditions.

The modern house is not complete in its furnishing and appointments if Paripan is absent. No Landlord or Tenant realizes how easily and cheaply property is maintained in a new and spotless condition unless he has experience of Paripan.

House cleaning and the removal of grease, finger marks and dirt from the paint work and doors are processes never keenly songht after. Paripan reduces their unpleasantness to vanishing point.
